Art Gallery of Ontario

Year in Review
2018 – 2019
Highlights of the Year
April 1, 2018 – March 31, 2019

2018–19 was a year filled with a variety of engaging exhibitions, programs and activities at the Art Gallery of Ontario (AGO).

The AGO continued to deliver on its mission to bring people together with art. The guiding principles of Art, Audience and Learning provide the foundation for our exhibitions, programs and activities.

The AGO has a notable history of developing and hosting successful exhibitions that attract visitors from broad geographic and demographic bases, while contributing to the reputation of Ontario as a cultural centre on an international scale. The museum continued to share the remarkable AGO Collection with the public, with about 3,900 works on display. The Indigenous and Canadian galleries documented lives and times in our city, province and nation through art, with a growing inclusion of Indigenous works to provide new perspectives on our past and present. Contemporary galleries showcased works by Canadian and international artists. Visitors were able to experience European masterworks dating from the early Middle Ages through to the 20th century. The growing photography collection at the AGO showcased the early pioneers in the field from the mid-1800s to contemporary artists.

AGO programming included a robust schedule of exhibitions all year-long, highlighted by:

Last spring, over 165,000 people were wowed by Yayoi Kusama: Infinity Mirrors and the huge demand for tickets was unprecedented. Visitors loved Kusama and the AGO wanted to give everyone the opportunity to see her work in Toronto permanently. In November, the museum launched an ambitious and successful crowdfunding campaign to acquire Canada’s first Infinity Mirror Room artwork by the internationally acclaimed artist. The museum was the first Canadian art museum to launch a crowdfunding campaign of this scale to acquire a contemporary artwork. Thanks to over 4,700 donors and the David Yuile & Mary Elizabeth Hodgson Fund, Yayoi Kusama’s INFINITY MIRRORED ROOM - LET’S SURVIVE FOREVER came to the AGO in spring 2019 so visitors can experience Kusama’s immersive work now and for generations to come.

In February, we opened Mitchell/Riopelle: Nothing in Moderation, a groundbreaking exhibition that examined the artistic dialogue that took place between American painter Joan Mitchell and Canadian artist Jean Paul Riopelle during their 24-year relationship. This show was developed by the Musée national des beaux-arts du Québec and organized in partnership with the AGO, with the support of the Joan Mitchell Foundation, Yseult Riopelle and Sylvie Riopelle.
In the summer of 2018, the AGO celebrated the power of Inuit art by bringing together two extraordinary artists – Kenojuak Ashevak and her nephew Timootee (Tim) Pitsiulak. They represent two generations of Inuit artists who have challenged viewers to respond in new ways to their art and the Inuit world view. Tunirrusiangit: Kenojuak Ashevak and Tim Pitsiulak was the first time Inuit art was showcased in the AGO’s largest and most prestigious temporary exhibition space, the Sam & Ayala Zacks Pavilion, and this was Pitsiulak’s first major museum retrospective.

Rebecca Belmore: Facing the Monumental (July 12 – October 21, 2018) explored the artist’s lifelong commitment to the relation of politics and beauty in art, often expressed using natural materials and the human form. Many of the 20 major sculptures, installations, photographs and performance-based works included in the exhibition had never been seen in Toronto. Rebecca Belmore is the 2017 Gershon Iskowitz Prize winner.

From September 2018 to January 2019, the AGO presented Anthropocene, a project by world-renowned photographer Edward Burtynsky and multiple award-winning filmmakers Jennifer Baichwal and Nicholas de Pencier. It illustrated how we, individually and collectively, are leaving irreversible traces on our world. This exhibition was organized by the AGO and the Canadian Photography Institute of the National Gallery of Canada, in partnership with Fondazione MAST of Italy.

Mickalene Thomas: Femmes Noires (November 29, 2018 – March 24, 2019) upended and overturned familiar representations and monolithic notions of Black women today; it was the first large-scale solo exhibition by this African-American contemporary artist to be staged in Canada. Developed in a creative partnership between the AGO and the Contemporary Arts Center of New Orleans, the AGO presented a bold collection of Thomas’s vibrant and politically charged paintings, silkscreens, photographs, time-based media and site-specific installations exploring how Black women are represented in art and popular culture.

July 1st, 2018, marked the monumental reopening of the newly renamed and revitalized J.S. McLean Centre for Indigenous & Canadian Art. The Centre was architecturally redesigned and thematically reinstalled to reflect the vision of the newly created Indigenous and Canadian Art department. It reopened with a reconfiguration and reinstallment of the Centre that sees works by Indigenous, Inuit and Canadian artists put into conversation across time, to better reflect the Nation to Nation relationship that Canada was built upon. In recognition that the AGO is located on Mississauga Anishinaabe territory, all texts in the McLean Centre are trilingual – in Anishnaabemowin, English and French. The Inuit collection features texts in Inuktitut, along with English and French. The display features a selection of contemporary Canadian and Indigenous artworks in dialogue with historical material. The installation features work by Indigenous artists such as Carl Beam, Ruth Cuthand, Robert Houle, Robert Markle and Kent Monkman among others, along with Inuit artists Shuvinaq Ashoona and Annie Pootoogook. Canadian artists include June Clark, Joanne Tod and Joyce Wieland.
The 2018 program also included the following diverse exhibitions:

Photography: First World War, 1914–1918 (April 28 – October 28, 2018) – The First World War is recognized as a period of mass violence and destruction, but also as a beginning. The war ushered in technological innovation, mechanizing and recording war in ways previously impossible. Presented in collaboration with the Scotiabank CONTACT Photography Festival, this exhibition gave visitors a rich opportunity to explore photographic objects that construct a history of aerial technology and photography, which influenced the operation and outcome of the war. Together, they contributed to the beginning of a visual consciousness of war that resonates to this day.

Käthe Kollwitz: Art and Life (April 7, 2018 – September 30, 2018) – Käthe Kollwitz (1867–1945), a leading 20th century German artist, was known for her drawings, prints (woodcuts, etchings and lithographs) and sculptures. Over a career spanning more than five decades in a largely male-dominated art world, Kollwitz developed powerful and emotional imagery based on her own experiences, her interactions with working-class women in Berlin and her exposure to the horrors of two world wars. This exhibition celebrated the richness and depth of Kollwitz’s work and Dr. Brian McCrindle’s extraordinary donation to the AGO of 170 prints, drawings and sculptures by Kollwitz in 2015. This is one of the largest collections of the artist’s work outside Germany.

Connecting With Our First Family (May 5 – September 30, 2018) – In 2017, the AGO launched a distance learning series with schools in remote and rural parts of Ontario in collaboration with TakingITGlobal, an organization devoted to empowering youth to understand and act on the world’s greatest challenges. TakingITGlobal's Connected North program has partnered with Indigenous artist Nyle Miigizi Johnston at Miigizi Creations to develop an Ojibwe language and education resource kit called Connecting With Our First Family. The AGO hosted the exhibition in the Community Gallery of the Weston Family Learning Centre to facilitate relationship-building and future learning opportunities. This project supported students and educators in the process of understanding the Anishinaabe Nation, with the aim of strengthening Indigenous identity and culture as well as encouraging Ojibwe language revitalization and community development. This exhibition was free to the public.

Jack and the Jack Paintings: Jack Goldstein and Ron Terada (May 26 – September 16, 2018) – This exhibition paired contemporary Canadian artists Ron Terada and Jack Goldstein, whose own artistic struggle has been a source of inspiration for Terada. Based in California, Jack Goldstein was a performance and conceptual artist who came of age in the 1960s and ‘70s; he was part of The Pictures Generation, an influential group known for their use of mass media imagery. He studied at the famed California Institute of the Arts, or CalArts, and became a painter during the art boom of the early 1980s. Vancouver-based artist Ron Terada has worked in sculpture, photography, video, sound and graphic design; the Jack series marked his return to painting after a decade of exploring these other media. Terada was inspired by Goldstein’s powerful 2003 tell-all memoir, Jack Goldstein and the CalArts Mafia. The exhibition featured 14 of Terada’s large-scale text-based paintings, shown for the first time.
The 2018 Artist-in-Residence program included Seika Boye and Sandra Brewster.

Sandra Brewster is a Canadian artist, born in Toronto where she is presently based. Her recent photo-based gel transfer works reference a movement from one place to another place through metaphor and image manipulation. Brewster draws inspiration from her own personal travels, as well as the stories told by a generation of Caribbean folk – like her Guyanese parents – who left their homes in the 1960s to pursue a “better life” in Canada. Brewster’s work has been exhibited in Toronto at Mercer Union, Prefix Gallery and the Royal Ontario Museum.

Seika Boye is a scholar, writer, educator and artist whose practices revolve around dance and movement. She teaches practical and lecture courses at the Centre for Drama, Theatre and Performance Studies, University of Toronto. From 1995 to 2010, Seika performed and presented her choreography across Canada. She danced professionally with Ballet Creole, Electric Company Theatre, Judith Marcuse Projects, Lucie Mongraine, Sarah Febrarro and other independent choreographers. Seika was recently appointed as an Adjunct Curator at the Art Museum at the University of Toronto. Seika lives and works in Toronto with her husband and their two sons.

2018 also featured many public learning and programming activities where the AGO led global conversations.

Inspired by the Rebecca Belmore: Facing the Monumental exhibition, we hosted aabaakwad, a two-and-a-half-day event in September focused on shifting the current global interest in Indigenous arts to be one that is Indigenous-led. Featured keynote speakers included Rebecca Belmore, Wanda Nanibush, Jolene Rickard and Alanis Obomsawin. This event was centred on informal, in-depth conversations among Indigenous artists, curators and scholars from Australia, New Zealand, the United States and Canada. Guests included: Robert Houle, Adrian Stimson, Lori Blondeau, Nadia Myre, Kent Monkman, Shelley Niro, Megan Tamati-Quennell, Brett Graham, Richard Bell and Greg Staats. Conversations were moderated by media personalities such as Duncan McCue, Candy Palmater and Jesse Wente. The event was a dynamic dialogue examining themes, materials and experiences in contemporary Indigenous art practice globally.

In spring 2018, the AGO Creative Minds speaker series brought to the stage international thought-leaders including author Salman Rushdie, filmmaker Charles Officer, artist Andrea Fraser and musician Iskwé for a lively discussion about Art and Truth. And in the fall, environmentalist Robert F. Kennedy Jr., filmmaker Jennifer Baichwal, artist Brian Jungen and author Tanya Talaga joined us for a discussion on how art can inspire much-needed action on environmental issues. Leading Canadian cultural institutions – the AGO, The Banff Centre and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation – came together to create this initiative with the support of Series Presenters Jonas & Lynda Prince. Since 2016, AGO Creative Minds has featured artists from diverse disciplines brought together to discuss a timely contemporary issue through the lens of their art and life experience. The events were streamed online and broadcast on radio by CBC, giving audiences across Canada an opportunity to hear what the artists had to say.
A full schedule of family and youth programming continued throughout 2018, including a Halloween Bash, Family Sundays, Family Day, March Break, AGO Art Cart and weekly youth drop-in activities. The AGO Youth Council gathered weekly throughout the year working collectively to initiate programming by youth for youth.

As a longstanding partner of Nuit Blanche, the AGO participated in this annual event produced by the City of Toronto and celebrated the launch of the museum’s major fall exhibition, Anthropocene.

The Public Programming & Learning division provides strong leadership to the museum in the area of reaching new and growing audiences. The evolving relationship with United Way has engaged over 600 families from target neighbourhoods with AGO exhibitions and programs and is developing into a more frequently occurring event.

All of our programs designed to provide special access for those with physical and cognitive barriers to engagement (visual impairment, dementia, mental illness, etc.) have been combined under the umbrella program Access to Art. Together, these programs served over 1,000 visitors last year, and the AGO became an official partner of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. These programs are positioned to grow in the upcoming years, to better serve our community. Of particular note is the Art Ambassador program in which Assisted Care Residence youth volunteers are trained by AGO staff to lead art activities in City of Toronto residences. The physical gallery spaces are AODA-compliant, allowing visitors with disabilities to visit barrier-free.

Overall Performance:

The overall operations for the year reflects a balanced position.

Below are a few key highlights of performance over the 2018/19 year:

- Total attendance for the year was very strong at 950,841 including all attendance to the building and special events, representing the fifth highest attendance year in AGO history.
- Kusama, Anthropocene and Impressionism exhibitions all exceeded their attendance targets during 2018/19.
- The year-to-date Net Promoter Score (NPS) was 78 on an annual target of 77.
Acquisition Highlights
April 1, 2018 – March 31, 2019

The AGO’s acquisition activity focuses on strategically adding works of the highest artistic quality to continue strengthening our collection. In 2018–19, 11,672 individual works were added to the AGO Collection, bringing each area of our holdings to a higher level of excellence.

Annual Campaign 2018/2019

Annual Giving

The Art Gallery of Ontario gratefully acknowledges the generosity of those patrons, corporations and foundations that have contributed to the annual campaign. These annual gifts are critical to sustaining the high calibre of collections, programs and exhibitions for which the Gallery is known.

Don annuels

Le Musée des beaux-arts de l’Ontario tient à souligner la générosité des mécènes, des sociétés et des fondations qui ont fait de notre campagne annuelle un succès. Leurs dons annuels contribuent à assurer la qualité de nos collections, de nos programmes et de nos expositions, qui font la renommée du Musée.

Notes

1. The above statement of operations provides a summary of the AGO’s financial activity for 2018/2019 and 2017/2018. Financial statements for the 2018/2019 fiscal year (April 1, 2018 to March 31, 2019), audited by Ernst & Young, are available upon request from the Art Gallery of Ontario (Director’s Office Tel: 416 979 6613).

2. In the 2018/2019 fiscal year, the AGO received gifts of works of art with an approximate value of $4,717. This is not reflected in the financial data above, but is included in the AGO’s 2018/2019 audited financial statements.

3. The AGO records capital asset purchases at cost and then amortizes its capital assets over the useful life of the asset. Donations and grants received for the purchase of capital assets are deferred and then amortized based on the useful life of the asset.

4. Remeasurement related to pension plan is the difference between actual and expected return on pension plan assets. Additional details can be found in the AGO’s 2018/2019 audited financial statements.
